

Experiential Entertainment

Where premium content meets disruptive technology to offer consumers engaging and immersive out-of-home experiences

The experience economy is marked by the tremendous interest and growth in events, festivals, travel/tourism, museums and art installations, interwoven with the success and proliferation of the sharing economy.

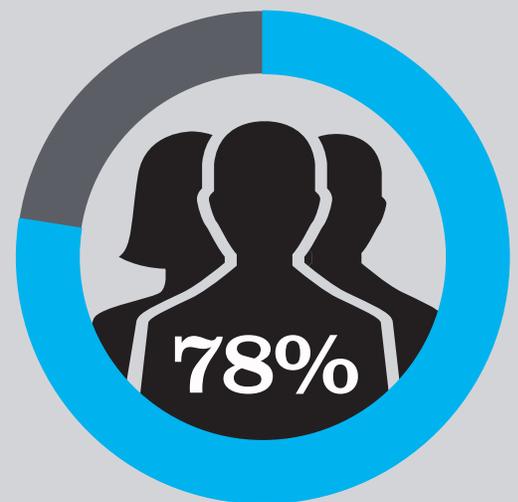

The new experiential entertainment market thrives by creating must-attend social experiences that produce moments that are captured and shared on social media.

Today's consumers want premium experiences. They expect the next level of experience in their entertainment, interaction with brands and social moments.

Innovations in immersive technology have unlocked the potential for brands and talent to tell stories like never before, and opened new ways to engage with their customers, fans and audiences.

Manatt's clients span the experience economy. We provide both business consulting and legal services in experiential entertainment to global clients across entertainment, sports, music, brands/retail, real estate and investors.
